Introduction

Introduction

In 2015, The 5Rs Partnership (www.5rspartnership.com) developed a pilot for the first Fees Monitor, which catalogued all of the full-time coursework programs offered by Australian and New Zealand universities and their tuition fees for that academic year.

The Monitor had immediate appeal and was highly valued by the institutions which subscribed.

The extensive suite of annual Higher Education Fees Monitors that we now have on offer allows university subscribers to become more strategic and cost-effectively benchmark their fees against their competitors and peers in Australia, United Kingdom, Canada, New Zealand and in transnational universities.

In the landscape higher education institutions now confront, setting student tuition fees has become crucial to domestic and international student recruitment, course portfolio design, and reputational perceptions of universities and their value.

The 5Rs Partnership – Overview of HE Fees Monitors

5Rs Partnership Fees Monitor Answer Key Questions including...

- What level of fee should we set for new and existing courses compared to our competitors?
- Is our tuition pricing strategy being used to enhance the attractiveness of our course portfolio and also our institutional brand?
- Are our domestic and international undergraduate and international postgraduate tuition fees positioned correctly compared to the competition?
- Are our entry requirements too high or too low compared to our competitors?
- Do we understand the pricing and entry requirement trends over the last few years and are we regularly taking these into account?

Benefits of Our Fees Monitors

Each program is classified by institution, state, mission group affiliation (where applicable), award (Masters, Bachelors, Diploma etc.), to allow subscribers to search on multiple levels including using specific program key words, at subject level, by provider groups or specific competitor institutions.

- Provides a comprehensive and comparative database at a cost-effective price.
- Can be purchased centrally and used across academic faculties and departments.
- Allows for more sophisticated analysis of fee setting, and helps universities to clearly assess how their fees compare at a number of levels.
- Allows higher education providers to contrast your portfolio of programs against others and identify areas of new program opportunity.
- Is delivered in an easy to use, Excel based format for filtering and pivoting data.

Features and Applications of University Fees Monitors

The 5Rs Partnership's Higher Education Fees Monitor allows universities to:

- Benchmark your domestic and international fees against other universities.
- Measure your fees with others in your mission group, city or state.
- Analyse patterns between domestic and international fees.
- Compare your portfolio of programs against others and identify areas of program opportunity.

Using the Fees Monitor Database

Our Fees Monitors are delivered as Microsoft Excel databases which enable easy comparison of information across competitors. You can search for courses by institution, geographical region, mission group, award type or subject area. Text filters are also helpful.
